Dining

The Hilton Chicago is home to four restaurants and bars offering a variety of options for meals.

Herb N' Kitchen is an urban market that offers Starbucks coffee, baked goods, artisan salads and sandwiches, and many other gourmet bites. Guests can place orders ahead of time and either have it delivered to their room or schedule a pick-up time. Their hours of operation are 6am-11pm Monday through Thursday, and 6am-12am on Friday and Saturday.

720 South Bar and Grill is a combined restaurant and bar with different selections based on the time of day. 720 South Grill offers a daily full breakfast buffet and an a la carte lunch menu during the daytime hours, and 720 South Bar provides a menu of burgers and light bites as well as cocktails and a wine selection in the evening.

Kitty O'Sheas is one of Chicago's most famous authentic Irish pubs featuring an all day menu as well as brunch options. Stop in for some traditional Irish favorites or for a fun relaxed evening environment.

There are plenty of nearby restaurants providing a range of selections as well as prices, including Lou Malnati's Pizzeria, Eleven City Diner, Acanto, and more. You can also visit this webpage to explore the variety of casual and fine dining options available in Chicago.

Getting Around

Public transportation is the most convenient and cheapest option for navigating Chicago. While many locations are within walking distance, the CTA provides bus routes as well as the “L” trains. The CTA website offers a trip planner to route the most convenient directions to your desired destination.

If you are flying into O’Hare Airport, take the CTA Blue Line train to the Jackson stop and walk 0.6 miles southeast to arrive at the Hilton Chicago. If you are flying into Midway Airport, take the CTA Orange Line train to the Roosevelt stop and walk 0.5 miles north to arrive at the Hilton Chicago.

Please be aware that, due to road construction, there will be increased traffic flow and delays from O’Hare Airport to Chicago.

There are also taxis and rideshares available throughout the city, but those prices may differ depending on the time of day.

Chicago Highlights

While in Chicago, enjoy free admission to the Field Museum at the Museum Campus as well as the Institute for the Study of Ancient Cultures (ISAC) Museum at the University of Chicago.

The Field Museum and the ISAC Museum will be offering free admission to ASOR Annual Meeting attendees from November 15-21. Attendees should present their ASOR Name Badge at the Admissions Desk. Information on current exhibits, hours, and locations can be found here for the Field Museum and here for the ISAC Museum.

There are many other museums and attractions close by in the South Loop, like the Art Institute of Chicago, the Chicago Theatre, Grant Park, Millennium Park, and more. Check out some of the highlights here.

Abstract

The Neolithic site of Choirokoitia (Khirkotia) looms large in Cypriot prehistory. Excavated over many decades, it was once thought to be the oldest settlement on the island. Although that no longer stands true, it certainly is an extraordinary site, with well-preserved horizons of dwellings, numerous burials, informative stratigraphy, and unique objects showing that it was a special place as well as a domestic space. Unfortunately, our knowledge of the Aceramic Neolithic period has not expanded greatly beyond this site, and much of what is understood about the period and what came before and after, is mostly known by what happened at this single location. Choirokoitia may or may not be representative of the habits of

ASOR 2025—Strengthening Our Foundation | Expanding Horizons—A Call to Action

In 2025, ASOR will be hitting its 125-year mark. Yes, fellow ASOR members and friends, our quasiquintennial is nearly upon us, and we have cause to celebrate!

A first cause for celebration is that ASOR members continue to be engines of research, education, publication, and engagement about the history and cultures of the Near East and the wider Mediterranean world.

In light of recent events and conflicts, this work has never been more needed. So, amid celebration, we confront challenges. Worldwide threats to cultural heritage are a great concern, because we know that targeting people's cultural heritage is a first step toward violence and extremism. Also, such losses cannot be undone. The humanities bring this into focus, yet dollars to fund these departments and this research are being siphoned off elsewhere. Some professional organizations focused on past human experience are shrinking. Not so for ASOR!

There is a second cause for celebration. Our membership is expanding. ASOR is in solid financial shape. You have created a foundation for positive change and action.

To continue this momentum, ASOR has embarked on a grand challenge, a $5 million dollar—$5,000,000—fundraising initiative. Our third cause for celebration is that generous members already have pledged or given $2.8 million dollars, with more coming.

This is a call to action, asking you to help shape the future through the discovery, documenting, and protecting of cultural heritage in innovative ways. I ask you to think how you can join in this effort to equip ASOR to meet the challenges of this moment.

Your gift of support to ASOR makes a real difference. With your participation, ASOR can:

1. Increase membership support: You can strengthen and widen ASOR's geographic impact throughout the Middle East and North Africa with scholarships, research fellowships, and excavation project grants, many of which will benefit citizens from countries that lack resources.
2. Widen and expand ASOR's publications: You can ensure that ASOR continues to disseminate knowledge and educate the public in an economic climate where support for scholarship is shrinking.
3. Make ASOR more accessible to everyone: You can address financial need for access in North America, North Africa, the Middle East, and around the world. With you, ASOR can set an example with diversity, equity, and inclusion initiatives that span language and cultural divides.
4. Grow Cultural Heritage Initiatives: You can support cultural heritage stabilization, documentation, and mitigation efforts. You can guarantee that ASOR continues to be seen as a world leader in protecting heritage and ensure the continuation of education and stewardship programs that combat violent extremism and misuse of heritage.
5. Develop Greater Online Access: You can fund innovations in the rapidly growing field of online and virtual resources to make research accessible to everyone with a computer, tablet, or phone.
6. Expand the Friends of ASOR Programs: You can help underwrite education and outreach programs that will broaden ASOR's membership and bring non-academic supporters with an interest in the ancient world to our organization.
7. Strengthen the Foundation of ASOR's Operations: You can safeguard ASOR's work to 2050 and beyond through the Annual Fund, or with endowment gifts to sustain operational staffing and capital needs at the James F. Strange Center.

These are but a few ideas. Studies of the human past have never faced greater obstacles, but ASOR has the financial stability and talent to find innovative solutions. Each of us is a critical part of this effort. If you and I do not respond to this call to action to shape the future of our profession and document and protect cultural heritage in innovative ways, who will? You can be part of this historic moment, creating change and making a legacy. Organizations thrive because of people like you. Please join in celebrating our 125th year with "ASOR 2025— Strengthening Our Foundation | Expanding Horizons—A Call to Action."

The University of Chicago Press is honored to partner with ASOR to publish the Bulletin of ASOR, the Journal of Cuneiform Studies, Maarav, and Near Eastern Archaeology.

More anthropology and archaeology journals from Chicago: American Journal of Archaeology, Current Anthropology, HAU: Journal of Ethnographic Theory, International Journal of American Linguistics, Journal of Anthropological Research, Journal of Near Eastern Studies, Res: Anthropology and Aesthetics, Signs and Society, and Transforming Anthropology.
